

You are provided with a snapshot of a Linux-like file system directory structure. Your task is to perform a series of operations and answer questions based on your understanding of directory navigation, file management, and hierarchical file structures.

The structure starts from the /, and includes multiple subdirectories and files. Refer to the directory tree image provided to solve the following tasks:

Please note, red are directories and others are files.